NEW PRODUCT – AL-KO BEARING PROTECTORS

AL-KO is pleased to advise that they now have available a range of very competitively priced Bearing Protectors.

The new range of AL-KO Bearing Protectors automatically lubricates your boat trailer's wheel bearings and protects them from the corrosive salt water and dust.

This minor outlay in preventative maintenance will extend the bearings' life and shield you from the hassle of potential major trailer repairs.

A problem with some other brands' bearing protectors is the excess grease is pushed out the back seal. This is not the case with the AL-KO Bearing Protector. It has been engineered with a breather hole in the side of the unit. This allows the surplus grease to be pushed out the side and prevents it from pressurising the inner bearing housing.

The AL-KO Bearing Protector is designed to suit a standard trailer hub with a nominal 45.2mm diameter bearing housing, is easy to install and comes complete with red dust covers.

It is available as a pair in the convenient clam packs or purchased in bulk.
